

InAxtion is a staffing organisation specialising in the project-based deployment of technicians at intermediate vocational (MBO) level within E&I and W technology with clients in the (petrochemical) industrial, installation technology and infrastructure sectors. We strive for long-term relationships with both clients and employees. Reliability and flexibility are of paramount importance here.

InAxtion is a stable and financially sound organisation and holds all necessary certifications. From 7 offices in the Netherlands, more than 750 qualified technicians are deployed on a project basis every day.

InAxtion's clients include large clients such as Spie, Engie, Stork & CWD, but also medium-sized installers in the Netherlands.

Examples of positions that InAxtion mediates are Electrician, Instrumentation Technician and Ironworker in the Petrochemical, Industrial and Non-residential Construction sectors. But pipefitters, heating engineers and welders are also welcome. For a complete overview www.inaxtion.com

What technicians can expect from InAxtion

Through our broad client base, we will find the project that fits your knowledge, skills and experience. And once that project is completed, we have a follow-up assignment ready to go, possibly even in the same team at the same client.

In addition, we offer plenty of opportunities to grow, for example through training or gaining experience with different activities.

We are an organisation that puts the well-being of all employees first. You will have a permanent consultant with whom you will arrange matters such as salary arrangements, deployment on projects, housing and training.

We offer a good salary and a permanent contract, which of course you must earn. We are happy to help you with all kinds of ancillary matters such as health insurance or housing.

Attached is a sample payroll statement with explanation.

We are a member of the NBBU and follow the CLA for temporary employment. We like clear agreements and not fine print.
